

REMEMBERING

Clayton Robert Dyer

July 16, 2000 - October 13, 2021

On Wednesday October 13, 2021, Clayton Robert Dyer, a loving son, brother, uncle and friend, was unjustly taken from this world at the age of 21.

Clayton was born July 16, 2000. He aspired to become a real estate agent, however, his time was cut short for him to fulfill that dream. Clayton was a fun, charismatic and confident individual. He lived fast, always trying new things, he loved food and trying the latest restaurants. In the winter, you would find him snowboarding, in the summer he loved boating and sea-dooing. Aside from his busy life, he always made time for family and friends, his famous line anytime he came home was "what's for dinner"- but he always asked if anyone needed anything. Clayton was one of a kind, with a heart of gold, consistently willing - wanting to help others with his compassionate generosity. His sense of humour was out of this world comical, once he started getting you to laugh, it was like he couldn't stop cascading words and you in-turn couldn't stop laughing. Clayton's presence in a room commanded positive attention, he was loud but magnetic. He was playful and outgoing, yet fiercely protective of his family and friends. Clayton always wanted to see everyone around him do good, whether that meant financially, physically or mentally- he always tried to have the backs of those he cared for.

Clayton was predeceased by his father, Robert (November 16, 2016). Survived by his mother, Cynthia; sister, Desiree; niece, Kandence and several endearing friends that became family.
